

The Victim And The Criminal Justice System: Past Progress And Future Plans Seminar Proceedings, Parl

3. Participating in proceedings

Feedback received:

- Victims and witnesses should feel that they have had the opportunity to participate constructively and openly during criminal proceedings relating to their experience.
- In line with the proposed EU Directive ("A proposal document for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing minimum standards on the rights, support and protection of victims of crime (10610/11)") victims should have the right to be heard during criminal proceedings.
- Affording victims and witnesses the opportunity to make their views known and to contribute to the decision making process is important to victims and witnesses, who often feel their voice is unheard.

Desired Outcomes:

- Victims can tell the court exactly how the crime has impacted on them personally.
- Victims feel that their views have been heard.
- The criminal justice system responds appropriately to the voice of the victim.
